Title: A Book of Farewells

Author: Jarvis

It tis' with great
sadness that I state
that I wish to depart
the realm . It is
decision long thought apon . I apoligize For I have disbanded the
messenger network
know as Icq . I fear
my re¢=exes and
sword arm are no
longer up to the task of
defending Britainia
against those who
would attack her .
Those very citizens
who normally I would aid and defend have abandoned the Virtues
I hold dear and have started a life of banditry . I am
unable to combat those effectively and have
sought to assist Britainia in other ways . But alas to no avail there is naught to be done . There are no
true quests to be done
to aid the peoples of Britannia . I fear this world is lost . So with heavy heart I state I must depart this land
in an attempt to save
the others that I am
able to save .
 I will depart soon but

first I wish to see
for the last time those that I have called guild brother or sister and friends . So please tell me members of mine
guild at heart when
house next so I can impart one last give of
all my bulky
possessions to the
various guildmembers
. So that the members
will never have a
which to defend
themselves and the
funds to improve the
guild . One can contact me by the email
messengers the
password to give to
them to see that it goes to the right address is xxxxxxxx.xxx or
one may leave a
similiar book within the box here . I hope
this message gets to
you at least Dolphin
for you have been a
good leader and friend
. And to you Ravloc Whose loyalty was
unshakeable . and to
you Good Dreamer who
was a never ending
scource of knowledge
of the land made
every day an adventure . and to the
others who I cannot begin to describe the
thanks I have to them
for their support and
aid . In salute , Jarvis Seeker of Virtue .
